Callipolis, O., Jan. 2.—A moderating weather started the gorge in the Ohio river. The steamer Lucille toward was carried away, but was caught in an immense ice jam just below the city, where the boat now lies in a perilous position. The steamer Charlton went to the rescue of the Lucille and also became wedged in place in midriver. The Carrie Brown was later released and the crew of the Lucille was taken off in safety.

Heavy gorges in the Great River are still filling and a vast amount of property is jeopardized.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

EVERY time any one fails to acknowledge a kindness properly he does a great deal more than prove himself a churl and hurt his benefactor's feelings.

He also runs the risk of hurting a great many other people.

I thought of that yesterday when I saw a pretty little scene with a rather distinctly unpleasant denouement.

At the table across from the one where I was dining, a woman with two little children was in the throes of getting the youngsters into their outer garments.

She was tying the baby's bonnet strings, while the older child, though hardly more than three or four years old, was trying bravely, though not very successfully, to struggle into her coat alone.

A busy little waitress who was scurrying past with a tray piled high with dishes, saw the child's predicament, stopped, set the tray down and helped wriggle the obstinate coat on.

The little scene took place in a restaurant where the waitresses do not receive tips, so I knew that there could be no ulterior motive for the deed, and I looked instinctively towards the mother for the pleasure of seeing the radiant smile that I felt sure must acknowledge such a gracious act.

And will you believe me—although the mother simply must have seen the whole thing, she neither smiled nor spoke nor in any way made acknowledgment of the courtesy and kindness shown towards her little daughter and herself.

Of course virtue should be its own reward, and kindly deeds should be done simply for the sake of doing them, and not at all for the thanks we get.

But as long as human nature is human, I fancy that ingratitude will always tend to curdle the milk of human kindness, and graciousness will be apt to make the cream rise on its surface.

If the next time the little waitress sees a chance to be helpful to some one and passes it by, it seems to me that the blame of that kindness omitted will belong partly, at least, to the woman who did not say, "Thank you."

When a woman fails to thank a man for giving her his best seat in the car, who makes him just so much less apt to repeat the chivalrous act for some one else. Other women will probably suffer for her ungraciousness.

The most gracious possible reception of any kindness shown him is a duty that every one owes to himself, of course, but even more to the world at large.

Any one who receives a kindness with genuine, hearty gratitude may thereby stimulate the flow of the milk of human kindness.

Any one who receives a kindness ungraciously may thereby rob the world of many kind acts.

PROTEST WILL NOT CAUSE REMOVAL OF LEE STATUE

Memorial to Confederate Leader Will Probably Remain in Statuary Hall.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Despite the protests of those who desire honors to be bestowed on the leaders of the anti-union forces, the marble statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee, in the uniform of a Confederate soldier, will not likely be removed from the Statuary hall of congress and will probably remain there forever.

It has been definitely determined that no effort will be made to have the statue formally accepted by congress, and no ceremonies will be held in connection with its unveiling, that having been done long ago without services of any kind.

Each state in the union is allowed to place two statues of its most distinguished sons in Statuary hall. Virginia waited until well toward the last and proposed to donate statues of George Washington and Robert E. Lee.

THINKS TARIFF WAR INEVITABLE

French Journal Points Out Agreement Must Be Reached Soon.

Paris, Jan. 2.—The Journal des Debats, commenting on Ambassador Baron's speech at Elysee palace, where he was received Friday by President Fallieres, expresses regret at the absence of any reference to the economic relations between France and the United States. It points out that if no agreement is reached before March 31 a tariff war appears to be inevitable.

While President Taft's last message held out hope of a settlement, the paper says, a further confirmation of the desire for an arrangement on the part of the Washington government from the new ambassador would have been particularly appropriate.

WALSH TO SIGN OVER FORTUNE

Ex-Banker Will Settle With Clearing House Banks To-day.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—The closing chapter of the story of John R. Walsh as a financier and railroad promoter will be written to-day when, it is expected, the former banker will sign over all that remains of his once great fortune to the clearing house banks.

Within a few days the decision of the United States supreme court on Walsh's petition for a writ of certiorari will be announced, and if this is denied it is almost certain that the gates of the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., will soon close on the veteran of a hundred financial battles.

Blame Wreck on Vandals.

Hellington, O., Jan. 2.—That the wreck of the Big Four passenger train No. 18, the "Knickerbocker special," at Dawn Station, O., near Ansonia, was the deliberate work of train wreckers is the opinion of railroad officials and detectives who worked on the case. The lock of the opened switch, together with the switch lamp, both of which had been removed to permit the train to crash through the switch, were found in a corn field some distance from where the train was ditched.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, January 3, 1870.—Jottings.—In point of attendance the masquerade at the rink on Saturday evening was a flattering success. The variety of costumes was not as great as on some former occasions, but there was nevertheless some excellent ones. The prize for the best costume for a lady was awarded to Miss Sanborn as fairly queen, and that for the best costume for gentlemen to Mr. Wm. Booth as high priest.

A Janesville lady treated her call on New Year's to Coe's dyspepsia cure. Vastly better than whiskey.

Another matrimonial affair this week. A lady teacher in the public schools takes a Milwaukeean "for better or for worse."

Contrary to the express injunction of Superintendent Little a pupil in the Blind Institution named Hugh Durland wandered into the new wing of the building yesterday, and fell down the opening left for the main stairway, a distance of sixty feet. He landed directly on the top of a pile of old hods which had been thrown there by the masons. Strange to say he had no bones broken and no internal injuries are now indicated. The snow has given way before the genial sunlight.

No less has been secured for the use of this city in "dorm" days. Look out for it, John.

Our New Dress.—We present to our readers, the Gazette in a neat and appropriate dress of fair faced brevity and pleasant nonpareil, which is an appropriate thing to do at the commencement of the New Year. The new type is from the celebrated foundry of Marder, Lacy & Co. of Chicago.

The Gazette Printing Company.—"The Gazette Printing Company" was duly and formally organized on the first day of January, in accordance with the statutes of the State, for the purpose of publishing a Daily, Semi-Weekly and Weekly Newspaper, and for carrying on a general book and job printing business. The officers are: A. M. Thomson, President; W. G. Roberts, Secretary; and Daniel Wilcox, Treasurer.

CLINTON.
Clinton, Dec. 31.—Robert G. Klingbeil was transacting business in Hollet Tuesday.

The dance at Anna opera-house Tuesday night was one of the most successful held here for some time. The music by Horden's orchestra of Elgin was very fine indeed and many think it was the best ever furnished by that most excellent organization.

Charles Zick, while unloading milk at creamery Tuesday morning, slipped and fell, striking a sick and fracturing a rib on the left side. He was taken to Woodward's drugstore and Dr. Parker called, who soon had the patient resting easier, and was soon taken to his home.

The M. B. church will hold the first annual reunion and watch night service Saturday night. An elegant supper has been prepared and many tokens will be repaid to under the leadership of Hon. Henry Alexander Muehlenbach.

Dr. John W. Jones is on the sick list.

The annual meeting of the Society of the Congregational church was held this (Thursday) afternoon and resulted in a very enthusiastic meeting. It was voted to raise Rev. McGee's salary $200 more than heretofore making it larger by that amount than ever paid a minister here before. It is but a slight token of the love and appreciation which they have for Mr. McGee.

Damage to about $2,000 to a flock of sheep was done here Tuesday night by dogs getting into the enclosure and killing eight, 28 and badly injuring many others, among them being many very valuable ewes.

The annual reunion of the Congregational church will be held tomorrow (Friday) evening at the church.

Frank Roeder remains very badly crippled with rheumatism and is almost helpless and unable to attend to business.

William E. Becker has been employed by Roeder Bros. to act as store manager. He is on his way back from Oregon and is expected to take up his duties Jan. 1st.

MEAT INSPECTION INADEQUATE
Dr. Melvin Says Situation Is Dangerous to the Public.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Half of the meat consumed in this country goes to the tables of the people without even having been inspected by persons recognized by the federal and state governments as being qualified to pass upon the quality of the meat.

Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the United States bureau of animal industry, makes this assertion in his annual report, and states further that the situation is one of real and serious danger to the public. The federal government is powerless to correct the evil, except in the large centers of the packing industry, such as Chicago, Milwaukee, Omaha, Kansas City, East St. Louis and other large cities.

The situation grows out of and becomes acute as the federal inspection service reaches a more perfected condition.

Col. Chinn Declares Its Wrong to Carry a Gun.

Cincinnati, Jan. 3.—Col. Jack Chinn, famous as a "knife fighter" in many states and chairman of the Kentucky state racing commission, says he is going to introduce a bill in the next Kentucky legislature, of which he is a member, asking that people who carry pistols be declared insane. He says that any man who carries a gun is a public danger.

Col. Chinn has killed, in all, more than ten people with his knife. The only person he ever shot was a negro, who was stealing from him, and he admits that he did wrong in shooting.

NOT ONLY INDIGESTION AND GAS BUT ALL STOMACH DISTRESS GOES

Take a Little Diapiesin Now and Your Stomach Will Feel Fine Five Minutes Later.

Five Minutes Later.

If your meals don't sit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sour your entire meal—interfere with digestion and cause so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapiesin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name, always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drugstore the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapiesin will regulate any out of order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

Prompt Treatment.
A paper describing an accident says: "Dr. Castoroli was called and under his prompt and skillful treatment the young man died on Wednesday night."

Home Place for Growth.
Most married people aim to have a showy house, but home is not merely four square walls; it is a place for growth, for growing together, "like a double cherry seeming parted." It is a place for children to grow into physical vigor and moral health.

NATURAL QUESTIONS.
"Yes, I'm a self-made man."
"Ever suffered from ramorose?"

CONFER WITH TAFT TODAY

PRESIDENTS OF SIX RAILWAYS
HAVE AUDIENCE AT WHITE HOUSE.

DISCUSS CHANGES IN LAWS

Define Attitude of Carriers Toward Proposed Amendments to Rate Act
—J. P. Morgan is Said to Have Suggested Conference.

Washington, Jan. 3.—President Taft will today hear what the presidents of six great railroads have to say concerning their attitude toward the proposed changes in the interstate commerce act.

The president has held up his penance pending this hearing, and is said to be desirous of giving all the interested an opportunity to state their position, but the special staff paper dealing with the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws will be ready for congress on Wednesday noon.

To Meet Road Presidents

The president last week received a request for a hearing by the railroad presidents and readily granted it. He already has given a hearing to the shipowners' association and to the interstate commerce commission as per their views. The conference will be attended by President Taft, Mr. Morgan, Mr. New York, New Haven & Hartford, Mr. President Love of the Union Pacific railroad and Mr. Harriman, President Love of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, President Finley of the Southern railway and President Brown of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Explains Morgan Will. Attorney General Wickham also will be present. J. P. Morgan's flying visit to the White House last week is said to have been in connection with the request of the railroad presidents for a hearing.

Holliday Excursionists Wreck. Sandusky, O., Jan. 3.—West-bound passenger train No. 133 of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway collided with a section of an east-bound freight, derailed by the breaking of an axle, about 10 miles this side of Huron. Frank Rogers of Toledo, steamman, was seriously, if not fatally, injured. About 40 holiday excursionists, homeward bound, escaped with nothing more than a shaking up.

British Steamship Wreck. London, Jan. 3.—The British steamship Ayresboro, for Boston, and the Arcadian, for Glasgow, collided in the Irish channel. The Arcadian sank in five minutes. All of her crew scrambled aboard the Ayresboro, but 12 passengers refused to get their money and were drowned. The Ayresboro had 200 passengers aboard.

Gate Sixteen Bombs and Dies. Madison, Neb., Jan. 4.—After eating 10 bananas, John Cannon, 39 years old, became ill and died at his home here.

The Realizing. If fiction writers but to be more realistic they should write less about dry-eyed grief and more about the grief that is released.—Atchison Globe.

The Island of Regeneration

By Cyrus Townsend Brady

CHAPTER XVII.

Divided.
The best thing on earth for a man in the island's position would have been isolation and a chance to think it over. The worst thing on earth for a woman in Katharine's position was isolation and a chance to think it over. If the man had been enabled by lack of outside interests to keep free rein to his thoughts and let them draw him whither they would, he might have arrived at a different viewpoint, whence he could have enjoyed a sight of the affair in all its bearings and could have adjusted himself to them, but the opportunity he needed he did not get. He was immediately plunged into an atmosphere of such strangeness to him, filled with such compelling necessity for attention, that, although he loathed the necessity thus imposed upon him, he was constrained to take part in the life that flowed around him. His instinct—and he was almost a woman in his instinctive capacity—was to be alone, but it was impossible, and in spite of himself what he saw distracted him. The people he met did more.

Whittaker hustled him below, of course, as soon as possible and took him into his own cabin. Fortunately they were men of much the same height and build, although the islander was the more graceful, symmetric and strong, and he succeeded in getting him into a civilian suit of clothing for which he had no present use. There were both loss and gain in his appearance. There was no gain in the islander's feelings, at least, he thought not. In view of the irksome restraint of clothing, and yet there was a certain satisfaction to his soul in being no longer singled out from among his fellows by the strangeness of his apparel. As clothes the garments became him, and it all depended upon your point of view as to whether you preferred the handsome barbarian with a hint of civilization in his carriage, or the civilized gentleman with a suggestion of the barbaric in his bearing. Whittaker reasoned rightly that the sooner he became accustomed to these things the better, and that the time to begin was immediately.

He had had a hasty word or two with the captain before he took him below, and when he was dressed—and it required assistance from the lieutenant-commander ere the unfamiliar habiliments were properly adjusted—the two passed from the ward room to the cabin of the captain in the after part of the ship.

The few sentences in which Whittaker had made his brief report to his superior had in a measure prepared the captain for the more lengthy discourse that followed, and, feeling that the situation was one which required more than the simple authority of the master of a ship, he had summoned to conference the surgeon and the chaplain. It was to these three men, therefore, that Whittaker and the islander presented themselves.

The chaplain, like Whittaker, was a Virginian. He had not noted the islander's face when he came aboard in his semi-savage garb, but as his eye dwelt upon him standing clothed and in his right mind before him he gave a start of surprise, and so soon as the formal salutations had been exchanged, changed, with a word to the captain for permission, he asked Whittaker a question.

"Is the Present Charnock Married?"

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Whittaker, but what is this gentleman's name?"

"The word gentleman was used naturally and unconsciously, with an absolute sense of its fitness, as every one in the cabin could perceive.

"It is not rightly known," said Whittaker, "but he is believed to be a Virginian of the—"

"I knew it," said the chaplain, impulsively; "he is one of the Charnocks of Nansemond county."

"Your recognition, chaplain," said the lieutenant-commander, eagerly, "will be of great value in determining this stranger's name and station. The evidence of it is circumstantial. I do not know how it will be regarded in a court of law."

"I have always understood that the Charnock estate was a vast one," said Capt. Ashby, "and since coal has been mined on the Virginia lands it has become very valuable."

"It is true," answered the chaplain; "who holds it?"

geon.

"It is held by an old man, my friend of many years' standing, the brother of John Revell Charnock."

"I believe that to be my name," said the islander.

"I have little doubt of it," replied the chaplain, continuing. "The first John Revell Charnock was lost at sea. He and his wife and young child some 20 years ago set forth on a voyage around the world for her health. The ship, in which I believe he had some ownership, was called the Nansemond. Its course was traced as far as Valparaiso, thence it sailed for the Philippines and was never heard of again. I know the story," said the chaplain, turning toward the captain, "because John Revell Charnock was one of my best friends, as is his brother, Philip Norton Charnock, who now holds the estate."

"Is the present Charnock married?"

"No," returned the chaplain, "he is an old bachelor."

"That will make it easier for our friend here," said Mr. Whittaker, "provided the evidence is thought convincing."

"The best evidence that he could present," returned the chaplain, "is in his face. He is the living image of his father as I know him, and he has family characteristics which I think would enable almost anyone to identify him without question."

"Sir," said the islander, addressing the chaplain, "did you know my mother?"

"That I did," returned the old man. "Her name was Mary Page Thornton, and she was one of the sweetest girls in Virginia."

"And will you tell me about her, and about my father and my people?"

"With the greatest pleasure," said the chaplain, kindly. "Meanwhile Capt. Ashby and these gentlemen will wish to hear your story."

"Take him to your cabin," said the captain promptly, "and tell him the things he wants to know. We can wait."

"No," returned the islander; "I can wait. I have waited all these years and a few hours more or less will make little difference. You have a right to know my story, and here it is."

Rapidly, concisely, with a fine dramatic touch, he told the story as he knew it of his life on the island. He was so entirely unconventional that he interwove the bare details of the strange relation which he gave them with personal touches. He made no secret of his love and worship for the girl, of the belief in her which he had cherished, of the reverence in which he had held her. He exhibited that strange commixture of feeling with which he regarded her as a human woman and as a demi-goddess. He showed that he was at once her master and her creature, yet through it all there ran such a thread of bitterness, of grief, of resentment, of shame, that his auditors, at first unpossessed of the key to his feelings, listened to him with amazement and could scarcely realize or comprehend. He told the story of the two lives up to the sighting of the ship upon the island, and then, his heart failing him, he turned to Whittaker and bade him take up the relation.

It was a delicate matter of which to speak, but the simplicity with which the first part of the tale had been presented gave the officer his cue. He was a man of retentive memory, of quick apprehensive power, and with a keen sense of discrimination, a rare man, indeed. And he told the rest of the tale with a subtle sympathy for the situation and the actors that enabled him so to present it to the interested little group of officers that he almost made them see it as it transpired.

"And what," asked the captain, when the final word had been said, "do you propose to do now, Mr. Charnock?"

It was the first time that he had been so addressed and the man started. He had heard Mr. Whittaker's words as one in a dream. He had been going over that dreadful scene on the sands. His heart was lacerated and torn as it. He was blind to everything but the past. He saw her face dimly in the present. He could see nothing of happiness in the future.

"I don't know," he answered.

"But surely this has not made any difference in your feelings?"

"I can't tell. The difference is in her, not in me."

"She made a frightful mistake," said the captain, impressively, "but she has nobly atoned, and—"

"She's not what I thought she was," said the man, "and if I love her, I love her now not because, but in spite of, what she is, and there is a difference."

"Miss Brenton," interposed Whittaker at this juncture, "has settled the matter herself. She says that she will have no man's pity, no man's contempt, that no man shall marry her on sufferance, and that—"

"Right," said the surgeon, who was a man of very few words and generally of good ones.

"My young friend," broke in the chaplain, "if I might advise—"

Calumet Baking Powder

—of Course Burroughs

Measure up the Burroughs Adding Machine with the same rule you use in measuring up anything else you buy.

Measure up the Burroughs by past performances, as you would measure up a horse.

Measure up the Burroughs by its reputation, as you would measure up a lawyer.

Unless you are very exceptional man, your own practical knowledge of machinery and mechanics is mighty slight.

You would not like to invest $300 in a watch on your own judgment of the appearance of its works—even with the case off.

But if the name of "Jergensen"—the signature of a recognized watch maker—appeared on one watch, and another was made by an unknown house, your decision would be quickly made.

To carry this watch simile a little further—Even if your watch gains or loses a minute or two a day, you are not very badly off.

And you take good care of it—protect it from dust, from dampness, and sudden jars and strains.

An adding machine must go on doing its work in the ordinary conditions of a business office—sometimes operated by the vigorous stroke of an energetic office boy—sometimes by the more delicate touch of a woman—sometimes by the uncertain hand of an old man.

That it is correct most of the time will not do. It must be absolutely correct ALL the time.

Must keep on with its work day after day, year after year; though the dust fly thick about it at cleaning time, and the temperature change from 70 degrees to zero.

What do you care how many wheels Mr. Jergensen puts in his watch, so long as the watch gives service?

Why bother about the confusing details of the mechanical construction of adding machines?

That the principle upon which the Burroughs is constructed is better than the principle on which any other adding machine is constructed will make no difference, except for the result; a result that is amply demonstrated by the testimony of many thousands of Burroughs users.

Probably there are many in your own city, perhaps some even in your own building.

Many attempts have been made to build adding machines. Indeed many adding machines have been built; some adding machine companies have been formed; some adding machines have been sold other than Burroughs—BUT NINETY PER CENT OF ALL ADDING MACHINES SOLD SINCE THE FIRST BURROUGHS WAS PUT ON THE MARKET HAVE BEEN BURROUGHS MACHINES.

It might be possible to build up a tremendous sale of any article for a little while.

It would be utterly impossible for any concern to hold ninety per cent of all the business in its line, and to keep on holding it, and gaining year after year, for eighteen years, unless its product were the most satisfactory product produced by anybody.

Yet this is the record of the Burroughs Adding and Listing Machine.

Every year the Burroughs has grown better, because every year new models have been adopted, models especially fitting the accounting details of different businesses, but never has the original mechanical principle of the Burroughs machine undergone a change.

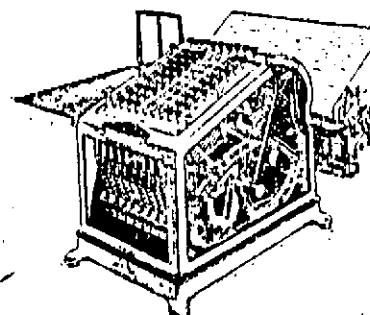

Many of the earliest Burroughs machines that were sold are adding and listing today with the same accuracy, the same speed as the day they left the factory.

WASIT MURDER OR SUICIDE?

WOMAN'S KID GLOVE ONLY CLEW
FOR UNRAVELING MYSTERI-OUS DEATH.

VICTIM BOUND WITH ROPES

Body of Morris Nathanson, Wealthy Clothing Manufacturer, Found in Attic of His Factory—Partner Has Only Key to Room.

New York, Jan. 3.—The body of Morris Nathanson, a wealthy clothing manufacturer of this city, was found in an attic in Warren street and the only clew whereby the police hope to unravel the mystery attending his death is a woman's fur-lined kid glove, which was lying on the floor near the body.

Bound Hand and Foot.
The body was discovered in the attic of his factory, bound hand and foot to a chair with a half-inch rope.
Nathanson had been dead for hours,
and the vast vacant loft was filled with gas which had escaped from a broken pipe just above the body. The right hand was free, and there were no marks of violence on the body.

Entrance to the factory was gained through Isaac H. Gold, Nathanson's partner. Officers got a key from Gold and, accompanied by him, his wife and Mrs. Nathanson, entered the building.
Gold, the only person except Nathanson who had a key to the attic, led the party up the stairs and opened the door.

Body Tied; Hand Left Free.
A rush of gas met him. Before he had time to close the door Mrs. Nathanson saw her husband dead in the chair.
She shrieked and fell in a faint
across the threshold.

Minute examination showed that the body had been thrice bound with half-inch rope under the arms, and bound to the back of the chair.

The hands and rope were both stained red with some substance not blood. The chair had been backed up against a pillar and the loose ends of the knot that bound the body to the frame had been knotted again behind the pillar. Thus the body was bound to the chair and the chair bound to the pillar.

The police detained Gold, the partner,
on the strength of what the police say is a disagreement between his own story of his movements and that told by his wife. However, before the coroner Gold was so frank and willing in his statements that he was released in $5,000 bail.

BUSY OUTLOOK FOR CONGRESS

Many Important Matters Await the Reconvening on Tuesday.

Washington, Jan. 3.—With President Taft's special rate anti-trust corporation message, the ship subsidy, the Panama bill, the appropriation bills, the Halligan investigation, and a number of other important matters before it, congress will get down to business in earnest this week.

Both houses will reconvene Tuesday, but the immediate announcement of the recent death of Senator McLean of Mississippi will result in an adjournment of both for the day out of respect to his memory. It is doubtful whether there will be a business session on the first meeting day, so little business would probably be transacted under any circumstances. The calendar day in which that body again will begin its work for the reorganization of the government of the

there will be disposed of the zone, and with it out of

QUAKE AT PANAMA; NO DEFINITE NEWS

MUCH ANXIETY IS FELT OF-FICIAL CIRCLES CONCERN-ING CANAL.

NO CABLES ARE RECEIVED

That There Was Great Disturbance
Is Evidenced by Seismograph at Weather Bureau Which Recorded
Earth Shocks 2,100 Miles Distant.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Much anxiety is felt among officials of the weather bureau, war department and isthmian canal commission because of the lack of definite advices concerning the earthquake supposed to have shaken things up in the vicinity of the Panama canal. That there was a severe disturbance was indicated by the weather bureau seismograph.
2,100 Miles Distant.

The instrument announced that it was 2,100 miles southwest of Washington and that it was severe. It told what time it began and when it ended.
According to the recording device it must have happened at or near the zone or at the bed of the sea near-by.

Government officials are wondering if the forces of nature have done any damage to the great ditch. The fact that seismic disturbances were noted at Martinique and in Yucatan, none of which were as severe as the seismo-graph indicated, have made the scientists wonder where the center of the shocks could have been.

No Cables Are Received.
No official telegrams or cables have been received from Panama since the disturbance and Assistant Secretary of War Oliver and Acting Chief Lane
of the isthmian commission's Washington office are getting nervous.

Jamaica Has Slight Shock.
Kingston, Jan. 3.—Two earth tremors were recorded. They were of slight intensity and not sufficient to cause damage or alarm.

Martinique Volcanoes Inactive.

ROCK ISLAND LIMITED DITCHED

One Man Seriously Hurt When "Golden State" Is Derailed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 3.—The "Golden State" Limited of the Rock Island line was wrecked here, when the engine and four cars were derailed. Of the thirty or more passengers, none were killed, and only one, Clarence Stone of Clinton, Ia., was seriously injured. Stone, who was in the tourist sleeper, had two ribs fractured.

The train was nearly two hours late and was speeding along at the rate of 35 miles an hour, when a cylinder head blew out, and the piston, thrashing about, caused the derailment of the engine.

Engines, car, tourist and chair cars
and diner were ditched.
Five passengers in the day coach were cut and bruised. They escaped through windows. One of those in the day coach was a woman, and in her panic she crawled from the car, leaving a child in the car. The youngster was rescued by one of the men passengers.

F. FEHR OFFERS BIG REWARD

Would Give $5,000 to Converse with Kidnaped Cousin.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—"Five thousand dollars for the return of Anna Kellner, and another five thousand for a private interview with her abductor," said Frank Fehr, millionaire cousin of the missing Louisville girl, as he was bidding good-by to the family of F. A. Hecht, with whom he has been spending the holidays.

While Fehr denies that he came to the city with the hope of finding little Anna there still remains the possibility that he was prepared to pay the ransom, and restore the girl to her parents, as the police have accomplished nothing toward locating Anna, though she has been missing since December 8.

WOMAN ATTACKED AND KILLED

Miss Anna Lloyd Is Found Dead in a Ravine.

Cincinnati, Jan. 3.—Murder was disclosed when the mutilated body of Miss Anna Lloyd, an estimable business woman, was found in a ravine near the Cincinnati stockyards. The crime was committed soon after dark,
but was not discovered until morning,
when boys crossing the ravine came upon the body of the unfortunate woman hidden among some weeds.

An examination by physicians showed that she had been attacked and killed by a blow over the head that crushed her skull.

Westerner to Aid Education.

Washington, Jan. 3.—From the central west has come the announcement of a gift of $50,000 which a philanthropic purposes to bestow upon the American university, the educational seat of the Methodist Episcopal church of the United States in this city. The name of the benefactor is withheld.

Minister Quits Greek Cabinet.

Athens, Jan. 3.—The minister of the interior, M. Triantaphyllides, has resigned, following a demand made by the military league and a conference between the king and Premier Neroumis. The league also has demanded the abolition of all Greek legations abroad except that at Constantinople.

A GIANT OF THE RING WITH A HEART—JACK JOHNSON, CHAMPION
HEAVYWEIGHT OF THE WORLD AND HIS AGED MOTHER.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Tina Johnson, mother of Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion of the ring, is the happiest colored woman in the world today. This woman who gave to the world a man of iron nerves and sinews of steel, this woman who has been lifted from poverty to an aristocratic social station among colored people, and this woman who is more interested in the result of the fight with Jim Jeffries than any fight fan in the world, is living in a new $11,000 home at 3344 Wabash avenue. When Johnson comes home he drives up to the $11,000 house in a $10,000 automobile, gets out of his machine and walks into the mahogany vestibule. He removes a mink-lined overcoat and a seal skin cap and embraces his parent. He walks into the living room and kisses his 6-year-old son, who is playing with a toy $10 automobile. He walks up the greets her and returns to the drawing room to talk with the newspapermen.

opens up his $150 range, where an ex-
